

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

HELEN BALLOU has lived in Brookline, NH for most of her life; the happiest years being the last 11 with her wonderful husband, Pete. She is a sophomore in Rivier College's Human Development, Early Childhood Education, and Special Education program. She is a peer tutor for the First-Year Seminar (FYS), Religion. She will continue to shine on and she hopes that the reader will as well.

SUSAN E. BARBARO, Ph.D., obtained a Bachelor of Science Degree from Concordia University, Montreal, Quebec, and Master of Science and Doctorate from the University of Waterloo, Ontario. Her desire to understand and protect the environment has always played an important role in determining Susan's research interests. In particular, she is interested in the microbial ecology of fresh water and soil ecosystems. Susan has studied and conducted research related to microbial physiology, biological control, and bioremediation. Her first full-time teaching position was at Delaware State University, a Historical Black College. She joined the faculty at Rivier College in 2003.

DENISE BAXTER, Ed.D., has been a nurse for thirty-two years and has been teaching for twenty-five years. Dr. Baxter earned her B.S. in Nursing from Boston College, M.S. in Primary Care (Family) from the University of Massachusetts at Lowell, and Ed.D. in Higher Education Administration from Vanderbilt University. She began her nursing career in pediatrics and then entered the military (army nurse corps) for eight years. She worked in a variety of areas in nursing, although her first love has always been maternal-child health. She started teaching in an LPN program and found that she also loved teaching. She taught a variety of course there and then moved to teaching in an Associate degree program at Rivier. She taught courses including Maternal-Child Health, Adult Medical-Surgical Nursing, and Trends and Issues in Nursing. She is currently teaching in the Baccalaureate and Master's degree programs at Rivier College. In addition, Baxter is a Family Nurse Practitioner in Lowell, where she helped establish a Growth & Nutrition Clinic sponsored by the MA Department of Public Health for children with various growth issues such as Failure to Thrive. She also works as an RN on a Family Birth Unit.

CHARLES W. BEVIS is a graduate student in the M.A. in Writing and Literature Program at Rivier College. He earned his B.A. from the University of New Hampshire and currently works as editor-in-chief of research publications at Financial Research Corporation. Charlie is also a freelance writer who specializes in the cultural history of baseball. He has written three books, in addition to numerous articles; his latest book, The New England League: A Baseball History, 1885-1949, will be published by McFarland & Company Publishers in December of 2007.

KATHI VIESER BIANCO is a freelance writer from Long Island, New York, specializing in higher education and consumer marketing. The winner of multiple awards for both nonfiction and fiction writing, she holds a bachelor's degree from Northwestern University and master's degrees from New York Institute of Technology and the City University of New York-Queens College.

LUCIE BRYAR earned a B.A. in English Communications from Rivier College in 1976. She has more than 20 years experience in news-writing, marketing, and public relations, including 14 years as a staff writer for Rivier College. In her current position as a writer for Southern New Hampshire Medical Center, Bryar produces the employee newsletter. She also writes for the hospital magazine, as well as contributes to the production of collateral marketing material.

CHRISTINA CARUSO is a senior at Rivier College. She is majoring in Communications with concentrations in Photography and Video Production with minors in Studio Art and English. She wrote this paper for her junior year seminar class called Mass Media and Propaganda. She also presented this in front of her peers during the Junior Year Seminar Colloquium. Christina works at the college bookstore in her spare time, likes hanging out with her friends and visiting exciting places to take photographs. She hopes to some day be able to work with art museums or advertising.

CAROLYN CHOATE is producer and host for TV13 Nashua, a low-power television station serving greater Nashua with studios on the campus of Rivier College. Her program, “142 Main,” covers local issues and the people and places that make this corner of the world unique. As a breast cancer survivor, Carolyn devotes much of her time to the Breast Cancer Education Initiative for Low-Income & Minority Women, which she established in 2004 to educate women about early detection and to offer financial assistance if diagnosed. She received her Master’s Degree in writing from Rivier in 2006 and lives in Nashua with her husband and two daughters.

KAREN COOPER is the Executive Director of Development and Marketing in Rivier College. As a Senior Staff member, she directs the Office of Development & Alumni Relations and the Office of Marketing & Communications. Karen has been with the College for seven years. Cooper is a graduate of Merrimack College in North Andover, Massachusetts, with a degree in English and Psychology. She earned her M.B.A. with a marketing concentration from Rivier in 2003.
