STORIES TO TELL
Selected Works of Contemporary Art

This exhibition gathers work from thirteen contemporary artists who in their separate ways go beyond picture-making to storytelling and beyond storytelling to making meaning. Each artist aims to transcend the attractions of both the deliberately decorative and story-for-its-own-sake in order to create a kind of visual energy founded in the penetrating idea, in the perceptively imagined, and in judicious reflection on the human experience.

The work is innovative, exploratory, and socially conscious.
An exhibition guide accompanies it with a short essay about each piece.

As the semester comes to an end,
do take a break and come to visit
this final exhibition of the semester.
