INSPIRING THE NEXT GENERATION OF INNOVATORS

Suzanne Delaney, Class of 2016, is the owner and Director of Programs at LOFTechnology, a STEM education program based in Nashua, NH. Her business provides children with after-school, weekend, summer, and vacation-week programs to learn engineering and accelerate STEM learning. Suzanne believes there is more potential in students who enjoy STEM subjects than is currently being developed in schools. Her goal is to educate and foster ingenuity and curiosity through structured and unstructured STEM programs allowing students to realize their full potential.
