

HONORING A LIFETIME OF ACHIEVEMENT: Pauline Taylor, Class of 1968

(From Rivier Today, Fall 2018)

The University presented the Sister Madeleine of Jesus Award to Pauline Taylor during Alumni Reunion Weekend. Since graduating from Rivier, she has served as an investment executive, servant leader, volunteer, and mother.

Pauline built her career in the financial services industry, holding senior-level positions at Fidelity Investments and Goldman Sachs. Committed to women’s and children’s issues, she served on the Board of Directors at Connections for Abused Women and Their Children. For 10 years in her retirement, she spent five months annually teaching and caring for the children at Sparrow Village in Johannesburg, South Africa, a hospice and children’s home for those infected and affected by HIV/AIDS. Today, Pauline serves on several Boards and continues her volunteer work with local organizations.

Although she has lived and traveled to places around the globe, Pauline’s commitment to Rivier University has remained. In recognition and appreciation of her advocacy for education, dedication to the University, and service to the world, the Alumni Association was honored to present the 2018 Sister Madeleine of Jesus Award to Pauline Taylor. ■

Sister Madeleine of Jesus Award: The University’s highest honor